

Hilversum Oct. 4 2004

My name is Hans Christian Steffensen. I am one of two presenters for the Danish call TV show "Slå på tråden". We have been broadcasting for four weeks now, and it's a great success.

Before working for Rosegarden Studios I have never done any TV work, and I only knew about screen work from my acting coach. Being a presenter on TV is an entirely different situation, because you don't act, you are yourself.

Before going on screen we had 4 days of training with Pauline, who acted as a coach for us. The main objective of this training was to make us comfortable and natural in front of the camera. The progress was amazing, and literally you could see this on the screen tests from day to day. The training also involved personal areas that needed extra attention and how to be aware of this and improve this on your own. In the shows from day to day I now feel, analyze and observe my own improvements.

What the training with Pauline gave was not only the ability to feel comfortable on screen and keep developing your presenting skills. It also has given tools to development on a more personal level making you aware of personal growth and staying true to yourself.

The bottom line is that Pauline gives a valuable coaching on a professional and personal level, and she deserves my best recommendations!

Sincerely Hans Christian Steffensen
